

Hello,

I came across your opening for Front-End Engineer on LinkedIn and was interested in learning a bit more about the position.

First off, regarding what you are looking for:

- Experience in Node.js and Front-End Javascript: Check! I have worked with multiple web apps using Node.js and I have used Javascript in virtually every project I have worked.
- Strong interpersonal skills and ability to work in a team environment: Also, check! Throughout my professional life, I have been tasked with client facing projects that require interpersonal skills. Many of these projects have been in a team environment, which is an environment in which I thrive.

In addition, I've created web apps using React, used GitHub as the collaboration tool and I'm familiar with UX and UI design. I'm a fast learner and ready to hit the ground running with a team who is equally dedicated and passionate.

Thanks, in advance, for your time,
TJ Loughry
